

Spain Gets a Preview of Aristocrat's Where's the Gold™

London, 23rd January 2012

Aristocrat Technologies has announced it will preview its next Type B game for the Spanish arcade/salon market at this week's ICE exhibition in London.

Where's the Gold™, a 5-line game inspired by the Company's popular precious metal prospector, is brand new to the Spanish street market.

Christian Colus, Aristocrat's Head of Sales for Southern Europe said while Where's the Gold is scheduled for official release in March at Madrid's FER-Interazar 2012, ICE was the perfect place to preview the game.

"ICE is well attended by Spain's gaming elite and we know there's going to be significant interest from them in Aristocrat's new release," Mr Colus said.

"Where's the Gold has already proven popular for players on casino floors around the world and we expect a similar reaction in salons across Spain now that it has been adapted for Spanish street market gamers.

"This game will just add to the fantastic Aristocrat games currently available in Spain, like Mystic Mermaid™, Wicked Winnings™, Dolphin Treasure™, Queen of the Nile™ and Big Red™," he said.
