New Ideas submission policy

1 Unsolicited ideas

Aristocrat accepts unsolicited ideas from the public if:

- the idea falls within the category of ideas that Aristocrat accepts; and
  - you accept Aristocrat terms and conditions in relation to the submission of unsolicited ideas.

2 What ideas will Aristocrat accept

Aristocrat will accept from third parties for review and evaluation ideas that are well developed or in the final stages of development. For example, ideas that are in the form of:

- granted patents, patent applications, design or design registrations;
  - completed software;
  - completed graphics or illustrations.

3 What ideas will Aristocrat NOT accept

Aristocrat will not accept:

- × game concepts, plots, character ideas or illustrations that are based on any third party created works (eg Batman);
  - × inventions or processes that are not yet the subject of a patent application;
  - × confidential information of a third party that requires that Aristocrat deal with that information in confidence;
  - × works of any type not owned by you.

4 Terms and conditions

Aristocrat accepts ideas on the following terms and conditions:

- (1) ideas are accepted on a non-confidential basis and Aristocrat may discuss ideas with any person;
- (2) Aristocrat is not obliged to review any ideas and may reject an idea without cause;
- (3) Aristocrat is not obliged to respond to any submissions;
- (4) the submission of an idea does not create a legal relationship between yourself and Aristocrat;
- (5) you acknowledge and agree that Aristocrat's own internal research and development team may have already, or may in the future, independently develop the same or a similar idea.

Aristocrat strongly encourages you to seek independent legal advice prior to submitting an idea to Aristocrat. Failure to seek such legal advice may destroy potentially valuable rights in the idea.

If Aristocrat wishes to evaluate a new idea pursuant to this policy, you will be asked to enter into an Evaluation Agreement with Aristocrat which will supersede these terms.
